How to get to Salerno?

Driving to Salerno

Three main motorways (Autostrada) connect Salerno with motorway network: A2, A3, A30. The main routes are listed below:

- Autostrada A3 (north) Salerno-Napoli
- Autostrada A30 (north) Salerno + Autostrada A16 (west) Napoli
- Autostrada A30 (north) Salerno + Autostrada A1 (north) Caserta-Roma-Firenze-Bologna-Milano
- Autostrada A30 (north) Salerno + Autostrada A16 (east) Avellino-Benevento-Bari-Adriatic seaside
- Autostrada A2 (south) Salerno-Reggio Calabria

Please note that the area around the Archbishop's Palace, the venue of the conference, is a restricted traffic zone (ZTL). It is therefore advisable to look for parking in the immediately surrounding areas (e.g., Via Roma) where there are also several hourly pay garages.

Train to Salerno

To research schedules and purchase the tickets please go to the following websites:

- Trenitalia
- Italo

From Napoli Central or Piazza Garibaldi you can easily reach Salerno by train. The regional trains ticket to Salerno costs around €4-€5 and it's called U-5 Unico Campania. Other trains are more expensive and cost around 7-10 euros.

Flying to Salerno

The nearest International Airport is Naples Capodichino (code NAP). After your arrival, you'll have different ways to reach the city.

From the airport you can take:

- Bus for €3 (called Alibus) to Stazione Centrale in Naples (get off here for connections to Salerno via train). It also stops at Piazza Municipio (NA) near the ferry port, from which you can take a 5-minute walk to catch the Bus (SITA).
- Taxi from the airport to Napoli Central Station "Piazza Garibaldi" (taxi fares) and then it is possible to take train connections to Salerno Central Station.

Bus connections to Salerno

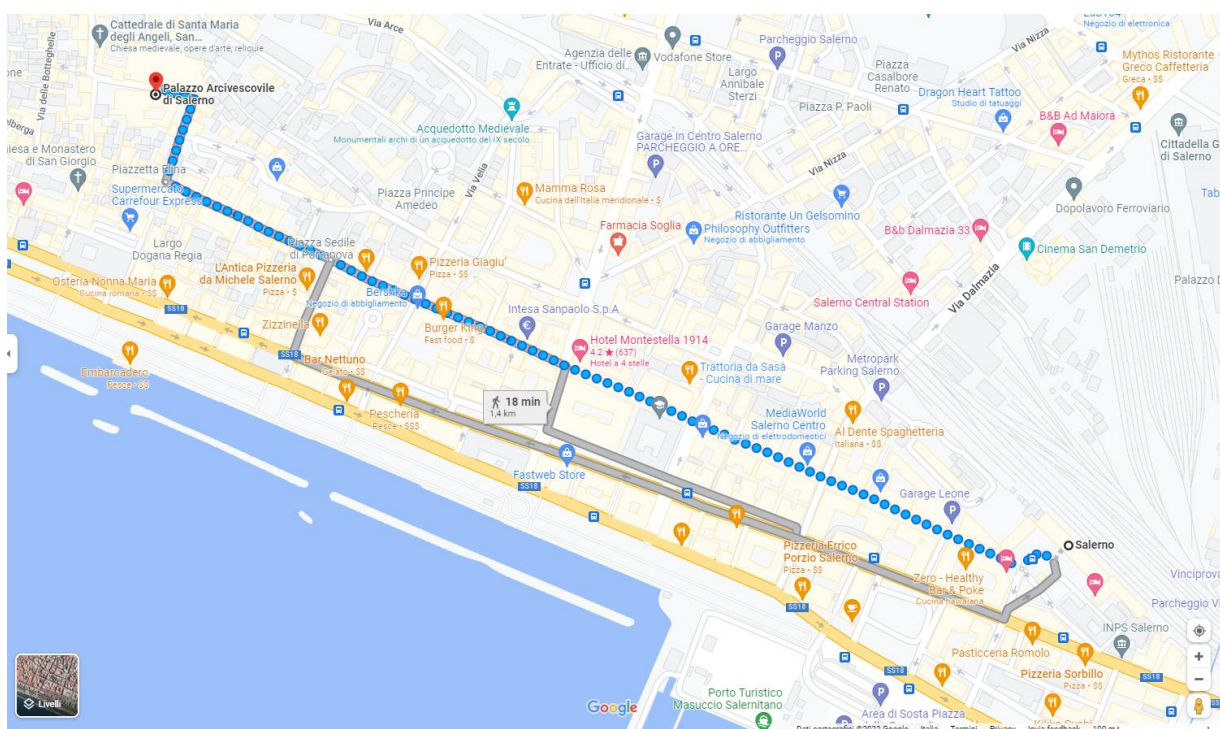

From Naples:

You should ask the way to the "SITA" (the name of the bus company that provides the service). If you stand where the bus stops, and face the sea (with the tall castle to your right), you will need to cross the main road and head towards the left. After about 400 meters or so, you will see a small congregation of buses to your right. Check the destination written on the bus, or you can ask for "Salerno". The service is quite rapid for the first part of the journey, but then will leave the motorway and take a more tortuous route. The journey should take an hour. The ticket should cost between €4 and €5 per person. For further journeys there is a regional ticket that allows you to travel with the bus (timed limit) or train (one journey): see Campania Unico.
